

BAA Certificate for the Assessment of Operating Standards and Demonstration of Competence at the Quarry Site

Moreton C Cullimore (Gravels) Ltd was presented with the above Certificate on Tuesday, 4th August 2010, awarded for their Roundhouse Farm sand & gravel operation near Marston Meysey, Wiltshire.

The Roundhouse Farm site is an operation well suited to the objectives of the BAA Scheme whereby all of the staff are involved in raising the H&S standards at the workplace. The same high standard is also applied to other Cullimore sites in Gloucestershire and Wiltshire.

Presentation of the Certificate was made by Eric Darlow, former Head of HM Inspectorate of Quarries, HSE, and Chairman of the Assessment Panel that oversees the BAA Scheme. Roger Cullimore, Chairman of Moreton C Cullimore (Gravels) Ltd, decided that the presentation should be made to the workforce on site as the team had all worked so hard to achieve this Award.

In his speech, Mr Darlow said, "Among the small and medium size companies, the Award should be regarded as the industry's version of an Oscar. You have made a very impressive beginning by gaining this award and you can be proud of what you have achieved".

Group photograph: From left: Richard Bird, Executive Officer, BAA; Eric Darlow, former Head of HM Inspectorate of Quarries, HSE, and Chairman of the BAA Assessment Panel; (4th from left) Moreton Cullimore, Managing Director, and 3rd from right: Roger Cullimore, Chairman. Far right: Councillor, Nigel Carter. (Centre, behind the presentation certificate), Phillip Whitman, General Manager and leader of the team.